Human Resources Forums

The MBA Human Resources Forum provides an opportunity for bankers interested in human resources to discuss important issues and dissect problems critical to their bank's needs. The forum is professionally led by Robert Dubault of Warner, Norcross and Judd, LLC, and encourages the free exchange of ideas and offers opportunities to formulate solutions to current problems. The forum offers a rewarding experience for professional and personal growth and will translate positively to your bank's bottom line.

- Discuss current industry challenges with others in human resources.
- Learn how other banks are meeting their human resources needs.
- Form lasting relationships other human resources personnel.
- Solve your most pressing problems.
- Obtain access to highly respected industry experts.
- Preview cutting edge ideas in human resources management.

Facilitator:

Robert A. Dubault, Warner, Norcross and Judd, LLP

Locations:

- Friday, March 2 – Ramada of Marquette, Marquette, MI
- Friday, September 21 – Comfort Suites, Escanaba, MI

Tips for attending a forum:

- Totally participant driven
- No sales pitches, no lectures
- No lengthy discussions on topics of little interest
- Open idea-exchange format with peers from around the state
- Bring your questions
- You make the agenda (topics on the agendas are submitted by you!)

“It is a great way to exchange ideas with your peers”
—Joe Torrence, Chemical Bank
